

Some of the Hindu Council member organizations have been doing Hindu Chaplaincy work on their own initiative. While most religious faiths have trained Chaplains, there are very few HINDU chaplains at the initial level and none at the advanced level. In NSW, Hindu Council is a member of Civil Chaplaincy Advisory Committee (CCAC).

Victoria has a credentialing process for Chaplains working in Hospitals (called Spiritual Health Workers). Spiritual Health Victoria (SHV), under the department of health has a funding arrangement, to fund chaplains of various faiths. 13 ISKCON chaplains are already accredited by SHV. Hindu Council has been looking after chaplaincy in hospitals in Victoria.
